Being Church offers ideas and examples of good practice, based on real experience alongside detailed reflection, on processes that offer support and challenge to Christian communities, leaders, lay and ordained, and to dioceses and ecumenical networks.

Robin Greenwood considers the institutional and local church virtues and habits needed for churches to know and develop their identity in society today. In a Spirit-led, relational understanding of God, reality and church, this book explores how local church communities can be re-formed in discipleship, confidence, and mutual love. Being Church is rooted in a purposeful journey, drawn towards the life of God and listening to the world.

ROBIN GREENWOOD is a practical theologian with over forty years experience as an Anglican priest, educator and writer. He is a member of the Third Order of St Francis and Visiting Fellow of St John's College, Durham.
