

Christine will help Lamps score at the World Cup

Fess up: Lampard

Frank Lampard is being urged to come clean about his secret romance with Christine Bleakley ahead of the World Cup. Famous friends of the secretive couple told them it would mean 'less stress' for Lamps as he tries to lift England's chances in South Africa. Britain's Got Talent judge Amanda Holden said the pair would be surprised how much more relaxed they would be if she joined Cheryl Cole and the rest of the Wags in Africa. But Holden, 38, admits her friends are terrified of going public despite the paparazzi catching them out a number of times. 'I predict big love for my friend The One Show's Christine Bleakley and Chelsea footballer Frank Lampard,' said Holden. 'They've been avoiding the paparazzi but if they go public with their romance they'll be surprised how much easier life becomes.' Writing in her gossip column, Very Indiscreet Person, Holden promised the Chelsea footballer, 31, that Bleakley, 30, would not thrash the credit cards like other Wags. 'Christine's good for Lamps because she's not impressed by a footballer's glitzy lifestyle,' she said.

Don't boo Heather, skating fans told

Dancing On Ice bosses have had to step in to protect Heather Mills from public abuse on the show. The 41-year-old, who says she is appearing to boost her charity work, has been booed by the audience during rehearsals. Producers of the ITV1 show – which also features Danniella Westbrook, 36, and former Olympic swimmer Sharron Davies, 47 – have resorted to pleading with spectators to keep quiet unless they are being supportive. Meanwhile, the launch of the new series pulled in 10.2million viewers on Sunday night. The results show, Dancing On Ice: The Skate Off, peaked at 8.1million viewers.

Becks keeps faith with Jesus tattoo

By Andrei Harmsworth

Football superstar David Beckham has joined the God squad after showing off his latest tattoo – a portrait of Jesus. The AC Milan star flashed his new body art across his torso as he celebrated his team's 3-0 victory against Juventus over the weekend. It's not the first time Becks has made a body pledge to the big guy upstairs. The new black and white image of The Man Of Sorrows by artist Matthew R Brooks is his third religious tat. Included in the 17 visible scribbles across his body are the names of his three boys and wife Posh as well as a crucifix on his neck above a guardian angel placed between his shoulder blades. His ink job is the latest public religious outing for Becks, who revealed his Jewish roots by wearing a blue skullcap to the funeral of his grandfather, Joe West, last year. In the past Becks, 34, said: 'I've probably had more contact with Judaism than with any other religion. I used to wear the traditional Jewish skullcaps when I was younger, and I also went along to some Jewish weddings with my grandfather.' But the tattoo shock was not as big as the bum flash Beckham gave Italian fans during the game. Beckham took advertising his Emporio Armani kecks into his own hands after swapping shorts in the middle of the pitch during the game. The star was keen to prove he was in fine shape ahead of this year's World Cup in South Africa when he then peeled off his top to reveal the Jesus tattoo at the same time.

★ Lewis Hamilton's romance with Pussycat Doll Nicole Scherzinger is over. The Formula One star's romance hit the skids after the pair said they wanted to focus on their own careers. The split was confirmed by a spokesman. 'They have decided to go their separate ways,' a statement read. Many thought Hamilton, 25, and Scherzinger, 31, were planning to get married.

★ Twilight pals Robert Pattinson and Kristen Stewart could be on the move – to the Isle of Wight. The co-stars are believed to have fallen in love with the island after spending a cosy new year in Ventnor and may buy a hideaway there away from the paparazzi. 'They loved it. They were able to walk around largely unnoticed – like a normal couple,' said an insider.

★ Most little princesses have to wait until they're all grown up before daddy buys them a car – but not when your father is Tom Cruise. The Top Gun actor has reportedly spent £19,000 on a custom-made mini Indy racing car for three-year-old Suri. She became a big fan after seeing the races on TV. 'If Suri takes to the sport, Tom plans on having a little race track installed,' said an insider.
